Selecting a Breed

Whether you are just getting started, or are an experienced enthusiast, selecting the right breed is the first step toward raising a successful flock.

To help you select the breed(s) that are right for you, we have added helpful icons by each of our breeds. Now you can easily shop by egg color, hardiness, utility and more. See below for a key to the meaning for each icon:

LOW MINIMUM! Order as few as 6 day-old baby chicks — with ship dates from April – October. Mix and match as few as one of any eligible breed meet the minimum order.

Now you can shop by egg color and complete your color palette! Look for this icon next to each breed to see what color of eggs each hen will lay.

Interested in raising your own poultry for meat production? Breeds with this icon are outstanding for meat production.

Live in a warmer climate? Look for the sun icon on each breed to see which breeds will do well in higher temperatures.

Live in an area with long or extreme winters? The snowflake icon identifies hardy breeds that will weather the cold well.

Want to raise backyard chickens in a more urban setting? These breeds have a nice, quiet temperament and are good for families.

These breeds are recognized by the American Poultry Association Standard and are considered to be a Heritage breed.

Breeds with a diamond icon are rare or exotic. Many are listed by the Livestock Conservancy as critical or threatened.

Interested in what other customers are buying? The star icon indicates the breed is one of our best-selling breeds.

Our family and staff have been raising chickens, ducks and other poultry for years. Look for this icon to see our favorite breeds.

NOW OFFERING FREE SHIPPING ON ALL FULL ORDERS OF DAY-OLD POULTRY
McMurray Hatchery is pleased to offer free shipping on all full orders of day-old poultry. The following small order fees apply: A fee of $35 will apply on orders of 6-14 day-old baby chicks, and a fee of $45 will apply on orders of 2-9 ducklings and/or goslings.

I am here for you. That's a very simple statement, yet it has profound meaning and importance. I am here for you because I have been where you are. I am still there.

Eight years ago I took a leap into the world of chickens. With my wife by my side, we led our family down the very slippery slope of chicken math. In that time, we have experienced every possible aspect of rearing chickens. Some of our chickens at home have names and leashes and come when called. Some we don't name because it's harder to eat Fred when his time has come. I've been there, and am here to support you on your journey into poultry.

Here at "The Hatch" we have a responsibility to the people and the animals in our care. A responsibility to our community, and our family. And, a responsibility to be accurate, and safe, and understanding of our customers.

I would not do what I do if I didn't believe I was making a difference in people's lives. We provide support for customers in every stage of their lives. I have visited schools and taught about the life cycle while kids hatch eggs in their classroom. We have donated tens of thousands of dollars to 4-H groups to further their outreach. We even started a college class specifically about chickens.

We work with Homesteaders who want to provide the best, sustainable food for their family (which just happens to be chicken). We understand getting six female chicks for a suburban backyard. We understand ordering 100 Cornish Cross to fill the extended family's freezers. We understand selling eggs on roadside stands and at farmers markets.

We are a small business, and we LOVE, helping other small business as well. One of my favorite things to do is bring chicks to nursing homes. Well, not this year. Chickens were such a fundamental part of life for that generation. I'd like to bring that back.

I am here because I care about the next generation — not just the next generation of people, but the next generation of chicks, too. I am so excited to start next year because I can see the work we have put into our flock. I am here because I can see the need for quality over quantity. I am here because all of us at McMurray Hatchery proudly care for and support each other. I want the best for my family and yours.

Our promise is to care. Care for our actions, care for our words, care for our environment, and care for our animals — whether they are with us for eight weeks, or eight years.

My commitment is quality. Hatchery Quality.

I sat shucking peas in the garage, long after dark one night, separating them into two piles — saving the best for planting next Spring, the other for soup. What struck me was for many generations of farmers, the best crops would be sold or replanted and the quality would bring increased harvest and happy customers. When we took the farmer away from the farm, we lost the quality and only looked at profit at the expense of all else. That is not how we operate. The farmer (me) is still on our farm, and we are saving our best for you because your success is our success.

One sure thing is I will be here. Right here, for you. Because it's the same journey I'm on.

Ameraucanas

The Ameraucana is one of the most popular breeds of chickens among backyard flock owners across the U.S. and Canada. Known for their beautiful blue eggs, the Ameraucana is a hardy, family-friendly and easy-going bird that fits easily into any flock. Ameraucanas can be identified by their pea combs, muffs and/or beards, and their greenish colored legs. Available in a variety of colors, and also now in a true blue color, they are a must-have in any flock.

AMERAUCANA

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Ameraucana is one of our most popular breeds, known for their beautiful blue eggs. The breed was originally developed in the 1970s, derived from Araucanas. Ameraucanas were bred to retain the blue-egg laying gene but eliminate some of the issues associated with the Araucana breed. We have been breeding Ameraucanas since the 1980s — even before they were admitted into the Standard of Perfection by the American Poultry Association in 1984. Our main flock of Ameraucanas are kept and sold as a mixed flock only, and specific feather coloring is not available. Our birds have muffs, but not all will have beards. Ameraucanas are extremely hardy birds and adapt well to both a urban and rural settings. For a specific color of Ameraucana, see our new Blue Ameraucanas below.

Blue Ameraucana

NEW FOR 2021 The true, Blue Ameraucana has arrived at McMurray Hatchery. These gorgeous and graceful purebred birds are the real deal — muffs, beards, blue eggs and tons of style. While Ameraucanas have been around since the 1980s, this is our first color-specific flock. Quantities of Blue Ameraucanas will be extremely limited as we grow our flock.

When breeding poultry for the color blue, genetics produces a constant recurrence where the the offspring are not only all blue chicks, but also black, white, and black/white (splash) chicks. Approximately 50% of the baby chicks will be all blue. The other 50% will be a combination of chicks that are black, white, or black/white (splash). All of the chicks from this flock will carry the blue genes and when mating black on white, or with blues, will produce many blue offspring.

Unsexed. BAMS $6.26 ea.

AMERICAN BRESSE

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

NEW FOR 2021! An American take on an iconic French breed. Proudly displaying the colors of the French flag, Bresse have a bright red comb, snow-white feathers, and steel blue legs. This breed, while rare in the U.S., has been around for over 500 years. Bresse are hardy, easy to raise and keep, active foragers, and have a great temperament. Want to add a light golden-brown egg to your egg basket? Bresse hens average 4-5 eggs per week. Eggs are a great quality of this dual-purpose breed, but its nowhere near its best. Bresse are in high demand because, like beef, they can have marbled meat. This chicken really tastes like no other — imagine the juiciest grilled chicken breast ever. This is not a fast-growing breed, but they are well worth the wait.

Unsexed. AMBS $6.26 ea.

ANCONA

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – FIRST WEEK IN JULY)

These quick, alert and active white egg layers are a lustrous black with white tips on every few feathers. Their dark, mottled feather pattern makes them a good choice where hawks, owls, and other predators are a problem. Adult birds are fairly small — about the same size but a little heavier than a Leghorn. Anconas are excellent layers, generally non-setters, heat tolerant, and have a good disposition.

BLUE ANDALUSIAN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

This beautiful breed originated in Andalusia, a province of Spain, but have long been known in England and the United States. They are magnificent breed for exhibition with a graceful and stately carriage, delicate slate-blue feathering edged with a fine rim of dark blue lacing, lead-blue shanks and toes, and bright red combs and wattles. Andalusian hens good layers of white, or slightly tinted, eggs and have very little tendency towards broodiness.

When breeding blue poultry, the genetics of the color blue will produces a constant recurrence in the offspring of not only all blue chicks, but also the black, white, and black/white (splash) chicks. Approximately half of the baby chicks we hatch will be all blue. The other half will be a combination of chicks that are black, white, or black/white (splash). All of the chicks from this flock will carry the blue genes and when mating black on white, or with blues, will produce many blue offspring.

BLACK AUSTRALORP

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Australorp originated in Australia and was introduced in the U.S. in the 1920's. This popular heavy breed is one of the best light brown egg laying breeds — at one point setting a record for laying 364 eggs in 365 days. Pullets will start to lay between five and six months. Australorps are a top choice as a dual-purpose breed with homesteaders and small hobby farmers. Australorps are hardy, quiet, very gentle, bear confinement well, and are beautiful birds. They have glossy black feathers with a greenish-purple sheen, and larger than average bright red combs. We have handled this breed for years and think it is one of the best of the heavy breeds.

BIELEFELDER (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Bielefelder is a relatively new auto-sexing breed — meaning you can easily distinguish male and female chicks at hatch. Even better, this trait will pass down to future generations. Male chicks are a soft brown with a white spot on their head, and female chicks are darker with a chipmunk pattern. Developed as a true dual-purpose bird, Bielefelders are a wise choice when raising a sustainable flock for both meat and eggs.

Originally from Germany, these gentle giants are beautiful, hardy, and robust. Their large, round bodies put Orpingtons and other heavy breeds to shame. Males have an abundance of thin, barred feathering and are easily 10-12 lbs. Hens aren't much smaller, and lay beautiful, dark brown eggs.

Bielefelders are easy-to-raise and have a quiet, friendly temperament. With one of the best personalities of any breed, Bielefelders are at home on a homestead, farm, or even in a backyard flock. Take it from us, if you're adding just one rooster to your order, make it a Bielefelder!

“ When we first started keeping chickens, I wanted them all. I wanted the pretty birds, the pretty eggs, the crazy poof heads ... the list goes on. But as we dove deeper into our homesteading journey, we wanted more than just aesthetics. We needed birds that would fit into our sustainability plans. We wanted birds that were naturally and genetically hardy, healthy, and smart. As we started getting in chickens from McMurray Hatchery, they met every single expectation I had of them. They were hardy, they were exceptionally healthy, and yes, even their aesthetics were pleasing!

We then ventured into the wonderful world of ducks and geese, and those didn't disappoint either. Now, my geese from McMurray Hatchery are my favorite barnyard flocksters. And just like the chickens, I'll never have to worry about their health or wellbeing, because they've been healthy since day one! As our homestead grows, our flock of McMurray birds grow, too! ”

Brahmas

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Brahma is a very old Asiatic, feather-footed breed brought to New England by Chinese clipper ships in the 1800s. Brahmas are exceptionally quiet, gentle, and easy to handle. Their small pea comb, immense size, and heavy feathering make them almost immune to cold weather. Hens are good brown egg layers — especially in winter — are likely to set, and make good mothers to their young.

BUFF BRAHMA

The Buff Brahma was developed much later than the other varieties, and they are still very rare. Buff Brahmas are large, golden buff colored fowl with black hackle feathers edged in buff, feathered legs and feet, and a black tail. The buff and black combination and great size make this variety a truly beautiful and regal bird.

DARK BRAHMA

The Dark Brahma has the most notable difference between male and females. Hens are a silver penciled dark gray with the same hackle as the Light Brahma, whereas the roosters have black bodies, legs and tail with contrasting silver-white and black hackle and saddle feathers.

LIGHT BRAHMA

The Light Brahma was one of the first varieties of the breed recognized by the American Standard of Perfection. The color pattern is the same as the Buff Brahma except that the golden buff sections are replaced by white. The black markings are identical on both varieties. The saddle feathers on the male Light Brahma are striped with black.

BUTTERCUP

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Sicilian Buttercup is a Mediterranean breed that was imported from Italy over a century ago. The breed gets its name from its golden color and unusual cup-shaped comb — a crown with a complete circle of medium-sized points. Males are a rich, brilliant orange-red with some black spangles on their body, cape feathers at the base of the hackle, and a lustrous, greenish black tail. Females are a buff color with all feathers on the body marked by parallel rows of black elongated spangles, giving the hen a beautifully spotted appearance.

GOLDEN CAMPINE

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Campine is a very old and rare breed which originated in Belgium. Golden Campines feature a combination of lustrous black and golden bay in a distinctive barred feather pattern. This breed is rather small in size — topping out at just four to six pounds — are very active, good foragers, and are heat tolerant. Hens lay medium-sized white eggs and are non-setters. Golden Campine baby chicks are the most highly colored chicks we hatch, with a bright zig-zag pattern of black, brown, and white stripes.

Chickens are at the center of it all.

“Why do we get chickens? For the same reasons that everyone does. For meat, for eggs, and something fun to look at out in the pasture. But once you get those things, then you look for something more.

We look for breeds to fill out our colorful egg cartons. French Black Copper Marans for their gorgeous chocolate colored eggs. Cream Legbars for their bright blue eggs. And dozens of other varieties for every other color inbetween.

Then we started experimenting with meat breeds. Jumbo Cornish Cross are big — like, really big. And really fast-growing. In 8 weeks, you have a juicy chicken cooking in your crock pot. But they're really lazy so we wanted to see what other meat breeds could offer.

Enter the Murray's Big Red Broilers, Delaware Enhanced Broilers, and the Ginger Broilers. Different colors and varieties to make our meat-making flock more energetic and friendlier than the standard meat breed.

The Delaware Broilers crack us up — every time we spend time with them, one jumps up on our shoulder!

Oh, but it gets better.

Have you seen a Polish chicken or a Mottled Houdan? These guys and gals are a riot to watch walk around the chicken yard with their large, colorful head poofs bouncing around. Or a gorgeous Red Shouldered Yokohama, or Egyptian Fayoumi and their stunning colors. And if you don't have a Cochin, you NEED one. Not only are they hilarious with their feathered feet. But they are some of the friendliest chickens you'll ever meet.

So yeah, we got into chickens like everyone else, for a few eggs. But the love we have for our flightless, feathered friends goes way deeper than that.

We love seeing our boys holding a day-old chick from McMurray Hatchery when we pick up the chirping package from the post office. Bathing our 5 year old, Uriah, in chicks as we do the annual chick bath of laying all of the new baby chicks on him and listening to him squeal in excitement. And watching our oldest son, Eli, take pride in taking care of the flock and watching his favorite birds grow up and go on to hatch baby chicks of their own.

What started out as a little hobby farm turned into our way of life. And chickens are at the center of it all. ”

Cochins

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The standard-sized Cochin breed is one our family favorites – especially the Buff Cochin. These massive Asiatic fowl were brought from China in the 1800s by clipper ships, can weigh in at 11 lbs. for males and just under that for females. Cochins are covered with an extraordinary abundance of soft, fluffy feathers from head to toe and have a quiet and friendly disposition. They are gentle birds making them a good fit for families, and they adapt well to a backyard setting. Hens lay medium-sized light brown eggs. They are good layers, but also likely to set. While their deep downy feathering might help them in colder weather, care should be taken with their large, single combs as they are prone to frostbite.

BLACK COCHIN

One of the first varieties of this breed, Black Cochins have a striking appearance with their beautiful, coal black coloring, bright red comb and wattle, and an abundance of dark down under their feathers making them appear even larger. It's no wonder they are highly prized for exhibition.

BUFF COCHIN

One of our family favorites, Buff Cochins were introduced from China in the 1800's. These large, buff birds created a sensation wherever shown, and are still highly prized for exhibition. Buff Cochins have soft, fluffy golden-buff feathers from head to toe, and a bright red comb and wattle.

BLUE COCHIN

The Blue Cochin is stately, gentle, and very rare. Because of the genetic of the color blue in breeding poultry, approximately half of these bird will be a dark slate blue, while the other half will be black,white, or splash. This variety, with its bright red comb, is often raised for showing.

PARTRIDGE COCHIN

This variety has the typical Partridge coloring: male hackle and saddle feathers are orange-red with black centers, and females have the typical partridge pattern with dark reddish-brown feathers penciled in black. Hens are valuable setters.

Females, PACP. Males, PACC. Unsexed, PACS.

SILVER LACED COCHIN

Silver Laced Cochins are quite new and very rare. This is an impressive show breed with a quiet, gentle disposition. The coloring of the Silver Laced Cochin resembles a Wyandotte, with the typical silver laced pattern, but with a single comb and feathered shanks and toes.

Females, SLCP. Males, SLCC. Unsexed, SLCS.

WHITE COCHIN

The White Cochin is one of the first varieties of the Cochin breed recognized by the American Standard of Perfection. These massive birds are like giant snowballs with their soft, white, downy feathers. Like all Cochins, they have a nice, quiet disposition.

Cornish

This handsome breed originated from Cornwall, England and were developed from Red Aseels, Black Breasted Red Old English and Malays. These birds were bred to have a wide body and high volume of breast meat. This rare breed is close-feathered with little-to-no down, has tight pea combs, and yellow legs and feet. Their game-like shape makes them a good breed to raise for meat production, however they are slower to mature than other Cornish broiler varieties.

See our fast-growing Cornish Cross broilers on p. 54.

DARK CORNISH

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Dark Cornish are hardy, excellent foragers and will rustle for themselves under rough conditions. Dark Cornish hens make good setters and mothers. Baby chicks can vary in color from a light reddish buff to a darker reddish brown with dark markings on the head and sometimes on the outer edge of the back. They are usually kept for eggs and show versus for meat production like the Cornish Roasters or Cornish Cross.

WHITE LACED RED CORNISH

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The White Laced Red White Laced Red Cornish have rich, dark red feathers laced with white, and a square, blocky Cornish physique, and are good foragers. Hens lay a fair amount of brown eggs. Chicks are varying shades of reddish buff, and are fairly small.

Cream Legbar

The Cream Legbar is highly desired for their consistent blue eggs. Female Cream Legbars sport a small crest, and are silver grey with a salmon colored breast. Males are cream colored with dark grey barring and long saddle and hackle feathers. This beautiful and productive bird is very alert and an active forager.

CREVECOEUR (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

This very old breed is named after the village of Crèvecœur en Auge in Normandy, France. “Crève Cœur” translates literally as “broken heart.” Local history cites the origin of the name stems from the land in this region being less fertile than was hoped by farmers moving into the area, and thus breaking the hearts of the peasants. The Crevecoeur is similar in size to a Houdan, but all black and with only four toes. The Crevecoeur is very rare and considered critical on the ALBC Priority. Our team has been working in conjunction with The Livestock Conservancy and other experts to help to revive this beautiful, unique and valuable breed.

DELAWARE (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Delaware is named for the state where it originated. This breed was developed by crossing Plymouth Barred Rock males with New Hampshire females. The result was an almost all white, heavy breed with slight barring on the hackle and tail. These true dual-purpose birds are excellent brown egg layers as well as fine quality for meat production. The Delaware is a nice, quiet bird when well tended to, and a hardy breed that is excellent in colder climates.

DOMINIQUE (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Dominique is distinctly American, dating back to the early days in New England. Pioneers brought these birds west with them when, at that time, any black and white barred feathered chicken was referred to as a ‘Dominiker.’ Today they are fairly rare. The Dominique has a rose comb, medium-sized body, prominent tail, and black and white barred plumage. Hens are good layers of large brown eggs but are non-setters. These birds do well in a free range setting and have an excellent disposition.

SILVER GRAY DORKING

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Dorking is one of the oldest breeds of domesticated poultry, brought to Great Britain by the Romans with Julius Caesar. This unique, very rare breed has a long body on short legs, and a fifth toe. They are good in a free range setting. Silver Gray Dorking males are a combination of silvery-white and black. Females are an ashy gray, lay a medium-sized cream egg and are non-setters.

SALMON FAVEROLLE

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Originally bred as a utility fowl in France for winter eggs, the Salmon Faverolle is now very rare and is raised mostly for exhibition and novelty. These birds are good-sized with a beard, muff, feathered shanks, and a fifth toe. Males are a mix of cream, reddish-brown and black coloring. Females are a creamy-white and salmon brown, lay a medium-sized cream egg, and are good mothers. Faverolles do not do well in a free range setting, but are good in colder weather and have a nice disposition. Photo courtesy of Dale Dawson.

EGYPTIAN FAYOUMIS

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

This small, active breed has been raised along the Nile River in Egypt for centuries, and while they are quite common there, they are very rare in the U.S. The Fayoumis matures more quickly than most other breeds. Young females can start laying their medium-sized, creamy white eggs at just 4 to 4-1/2 months, and males will start to crow at just 5 to 6 weeks. Fayoumis are marked with silvery-white hackles and their bodies have white barring on black feathers. Baby chicks are very colorful and easily identified with brown, black, and white on their backs and their heads are a warm brown color with a hint of purple.

Hamburgs

The Hamburg is a very old, ornamental breed. These are small, alert birds that love foraging and thrive in a free range setting. They are such prolific white egg layers that they have been referred to as the “Dutch Everyday Layer.” Hamburgs have a rose comb, distinct hackle feathers, and a spangled pattern on their bodies.

GOLDEN PENCEILED HAMBURG

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

This is an absolutely beautiful variety of the Hamburgs — with finely penciled reddish feathering and black barring, lead blue shanks and toes, and a large, pointed rose comb. This small active breed lays a white egg, and is a non-setter.

SILVER SPANGLED HAMBURG

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Silver Spangled Hamburg is a very alert and active breed. These small, elegant and beautiful birds are consistent layers, have a bright cheerfulness when foraging, and love a free range setting. This is an economical breed to keep as they eat less than most breeds.

MOTTLED HOUDAN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Houdan originated near the village of Houdan in France and is a rare breed, listed as threatened by the Livestock Conservancy. The locale — and their mottled black feathers tipped with V-shaped white spots — give them their name. The breed is known for its flowing crest, V-shaped comb, muff of feathers at the throat, and the 5th toe. Houdans are decent white egg layers, but are non-setters. These crested birds are larger than a standard Polish, are excellent in warm climates, and have a good disposition.

“Why keep chickens? Frankly, why not keep chickens? Why must there be a statement of intent when it comes to raising chickens? Nobody ever asks, ‘Why keep a dog?’

Not only do chickens produce nutritious food and valuable garden fertilizer, but they also offer chemical-free pest control, educational opportunities, and the most unexpected benefit: a capacity to enrich the lives of their caretakers. Chickens are the new family dog.”

Jersey Giants

The Jersey Giant originated in New Jersey in the late 1800s, and was developed as a large, roasting bird. As their name implies, this is an immense, heavy, dual-purpose breed used for both egg and meat production. Hens are decent layers of large, brown eggs and are persistent through colder weather.

BLACK GIANT (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Black Giant is the original Jersey Giant, developed in New Jersey in the late 19th century by crossing several of the large, dark Asiatic breeds. This handsome breed has black feathers with a green sheen, dark brown eyes, black shanks and toes, and a straight red comb. The Black Giant has a good disposition and is a good breed for farms and free range settings.

WHITE GIANT (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The White Jersey Giant is one of the newer purebred breeds. These heavy birds are primarily raised for meat, but are slower to mature than Rocks, Reds, and other common heavy breeds — however, they will eventually surpass them in size and weight. Mature hens are very large and good brown egg layers. Baby chicks are varying shades of smoky gray, varying from almost black to very light.

LAKENVELDER (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The word Lakenvelder in Dutch means “a shadow on a sheet” — a perfect name for this small white breed which is draped in black on their neck, wings and tail. Lakenvelders are quite small when mature, weighing just four to five pounds. They are very quick and active, and will forage widely if allowed to run. Hens lay white eggs and are non-setters. Baby chicks are mostly creamy-white with a half-collar of black on their neck, and sprinkling of black on their head and back. Photo courtesy of Leigh Ann Shiflett and Will Riggs.

Langshans

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Langshan is a very old Heritage feather-legged breed that originated in China. This gentle breed has an excellent disposition, and is smaller and more active than other Asiatic breeds. They have a pronounced upright appearance, and are not as heavily feathered down the legs and toes as Cochins. Hens are good brown egg layers, and are very likely to set.

BLACK LANGSHAN 🍷

Black Langshans are a family favorite at McMurray Hatchery — in fact, the rooster pictured to the right belonged to one of our owners. These large, stunning feather-legged birds are pure glossy black with bright red combs, dark eyes, and black shanks. Chicks are black with some white on the underside.

Leghorns

The Leghorn is one of the most productive breeds of poultry. These prolific white egg layers come in a wide range of colors and types — from the high-producing White Leghorn hybrid, to a colorful range of Heritage varieties. The production White Leghorn is commonly used as a commercial layer breed in many countries around the world.

Leghorns are not only excellent layers, they are non-setters, active, hardy, and vigorous and productive foragers — making them one of the most cost-effective white egg laying breeds.

PEARL WHITE LEGHORN ★

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

Over 45 years of scientific breeding research have gone into the development of our Pearl White Leghorns. This is, by far, our best white egg laying breed. Pearl White Leghorn pullets weigh about 4 lbs. at maturity, start laying at 4 1/2 to 5 months, and will continue laying 10 to 12 weeks longer than most good layers. Livability and resistance to disease are very high, and the feed-to-egg conversion ratio is excellent, holding down the cost of egg production. Our Pearl White Leghorn hens lay the highest grade, uniform shape and size, good shell, and highest interior quality eggs on the least feed in smallest amount of space.

RED LEGHORN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Red Leghorn is a rich, brilliant red color combined with a graceful carriage, sweeping tail, white ear lobes, and yellow shanks and toes. Hens are excellent white egg layers and are non-setters. This breed is fairly rare, is good in a free range setting and in warmer climates.

ROSE COMB BROWN LEGHORN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Rose Comb Brown Leghorns have exactly the same feather color as the Single Comb Brown Leghorns. The only difference is that instead of the straight blade single combs, they have rose combs which are low, solid, thick, and covered with small rounded points. One advantage of the rose combs is in cold climates they are less likely to suffer frostbite. The dark color and quick actions of both Brown Leghorn varieties make this a good free range breed where there is a risk of predators.

SILVER LEGHORN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Silver Leghorn is a rare and beautiful variety. Males are silvery-white and lustrous greenish-black. Females have a salmon colored breast and silvery-gray neck, back and wings. This breed makes good white egg layers, and is very vigorous, quick, and alert. Our strain is very carefully selected for correct color and type if you're looking for a Heritage Breed.

SINGLE COMB BROWN LEGHORN

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

This variety is generally recognized as the most colorful of the Leghorn family. Like all Leghorns, they are white egg layers, are non-setters, have large red combs, white ear lobes, and yellow skin, shanks and feet. Our Brown Leghorns have been improved over the years by the introduction of the world-famous Danish strain. Males are very handsome with orange hackle and saddle feathers with black stripes in the center of each. Females are a medium brown with delicate penciling, darker brown wings, and a salmon colored breast. Photo (right) courtesy of Brittany Arquette.

Marans

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Marans breed originated in the town of Marans, France. These dual-purpose birds are known for their extremely dark brown eggs and meat quality. Marans are a fast growing breed and extremely hardy — thriving in almost any climate. They are generally docile but active, have a quiet nature, and like to free range.

CUCKOO MARANS

The Cuckoo Marans, is a popular variety known for their large, dark, chocolate-colored brown eggs. The Cuckoo Marans resembles the Barred Rock with their black feathers crossed with irregular dark and light slate-colored bars. Unlike the French Black Copper Marans and the French White Marans, which have feathered legs, the Cuckoo Marans is clean legged. This is a good hardy breed, with excellent heat tolerance, and is ideal in a free range setting.

FRENCH WHITE MARANS

Imagine a bird with snowy white, downy feathers from head to toe, a deep red single comb and an excellent disposition. Look no further than our French White Marans. Best of all, these feather-footed white wonders lay the same deep, dark brown eggs as our French Black Copper Marans. Developed from the white sports of the French Black Copper Marans, the whites were accepted by the American Poultry Association as a recognized variety in 2014. White Marans, like the other Marans varieties, have a quiet and friendly disposition and adapt well to a backyard setting making them a great choice for families.

French Black Copper Marans

Looking for those dark, chocolate-brown eggs to fill your egg basket? This is the breed, and it's a must-have. Marans are calm, quiet chickens that bear confinement well and are excellent for families and backyard flocks. Recognized by the American Poultry Association in 2011, hens of this feather-footed breed are a deep black color with copper flecks around their head and necks, while roosters are much more striking and colorful with blue back feathers and bright copper hackle feathers. French Black Copper Marans are considered a hardy breed, but care should be taken in colder climates as their large single combs are prone to frostbite.

“Chickens were my first love on the homestead. I remember pouring over Murray McMurray Hatchery’s catalog back when we were renting a suburban home and couldn’t have a flock of our own. I desperately dreamed of the days I could gather eggs from our backyard hens.

These days, the egg baskets overflow but I haven’t forgotten those early longings. There is still something terribly romantic about gathering still-warm eggs from the coop and taking them straight to the kitchen for breakfast.”

Minorcas (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Minorcas are the largest, and heaviest, of the Mediterranean breeds. They have long and muscular bodies, large combs, long wattles, large white earlobes, and compact feathering. Minorca hens are excellent layers and are non-setters. Due to their tight feathering and large combs, they are more prone to frostbite.

BLACK MINORCA

This is one of our favorite varieties — and one of the first breeds raised by our founder, Murray McMurray. In his first poultry exhibition at the 1917 Iowa State Fair, Murray won a blue ribbon for his prize Black Minorca rooster, and the rest is history. The Minorcas are the largest of the Mediterranean breeds and the Black variety is possibly the finest example of their class. They have a good disposition and are said to have feisty personalities. Hens lay large white eggs, are non-setters, and are excellent in a free range setting and warmer climates.

MODERN BB RED GAME

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Modern Games were developed from the Old English Game fowl — one of the oldest known breeds. Initially bred for exhibition in England, these small birds have an extremely high stature, and peculiar style and carriage. This rare breed is listed as critical by the Livestock Conservancy. Hens lay a medium-sized white egg and are non-setters. Modern Games are heat tolerant and like to free range.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

This breed was developed in the state of New Hampshire from Rhode Island Reds. Through generations of selective breeding, the New Hampshire Red is a hardy breed that matures early, is rapidly full-feathering, and hens are excellent large, brown egg layers. This dual-purpose breed is an excellent choice for those wanting to free range poultry for meat production. Photos courtesy of Rebecca Reynolds, Tawny Freeland, and Destiny LaPointe.

DUAL-PURPOSE
CREAM-COLORED EGGS

Lemon Cuckoo Niederrheiner

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

Hailing from Germany, the Lemon Cuckoo Niederrheiner is a great choice for both meat and egg production. While technically an auto-sexing breed, the colorations at day-old are not easily distinguishable. The combination of their buff color and barring makes this a very pretty bird. The Niederrheiner is a large bird — much like our other German breed, the Bielefelder — and we are confident these will make good meat birds and good layers. Averaging about 200 light cream-colored eggs per year, these hens are no slouches. What maybe our favorite aspect of the breed is their easy, friendly nature. A family favorite, whether it be in the yard or on the table.

Orpingtons

Orpingtons were developed in England in the late 1800s, and quickly became popular when they were introduced in the United States. They come in a variety of colors, but the golden Buff is the most common — and one of our best selling breeds. Orpingtons are one of the best all-around breeds. They are a good dual-purpose breed for homesteaders and farmers, and superior brown egg layers with a quiet, gentle disposition that thrive in an urban or backyard setting.

BUFF ORPINGTON

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

Buff Orpingtons have been one of our most popular breeds for years. These large, stately chickens have glistening, golden-buff colored feathers and a wonderfully quiet disposition. Their loose, fluffy feathers keep them warm in cold climates. Orpington hens lay large, brown eggs — even right through colder weather. They also make excellent setters and mothers to their baby chicks. Broody Buff Orpington hens are often willing to hatch others’ eggs or accept other baby chicks as their own. This gentle breed is perfect for families wanting backyard chickens and fresh eggs in an urban setting.

WHITE ORPINGTON

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The White Orpington is a big, soft, fluffy docile and gentle breed. These pure white birds are similar to the Buff version with heavy frames and pinkish white skin. Initially called the Albion, this variety is said to have been developed by William Cook in 1889. Cook is credited with developing the Orpington breed and naming it after his home in Kent. White Orpington hens are especially sweet, are good winter brown egg layers, and also make excellent setters and mothers to their baby chicks.

PHOENIX

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Phoenix was developed from the Onagadori — long-tailed Japanese birds that were kept in Imperial gardens. The Silver Phoenix is a small, ornamental breed that has become increasingly popular at poultry shows. The beak can be a shade of tan, while the eyes are usually a reddish bay color. Mature males are white with black and iridescent blue and silver shades giving them a striking appearance. They have gorgeous plumage, are gentle birds, very heat tolerant, and only need a small amount of feed and space to maintain them. Hens lay small white eggs and are non-setters.

Plymouth Rocks

The Plymouth Rock is an all-American Heritage breed, developed in the 1800s and accepted into the American Poultry Association's Standard of Excellence in 1874. While the Barred variety is often referred to as a Plymouth Rock, the name belongs to the entire breed which includes the Barred, Buff, Partridge, Silver Penciled, White and other varieties.

Plymouth Rocks are a reliable dual-purpose breed raised for eggs and meat, and known for its outstanding qualities such as hardiness, docile temperament, and broodiness. The Plymouth Rock was one of the foundation breeds for the broiler industry in the 1920's. Today it's an ideal choice for homesteaders and farmers who are wanting a sustainable, Heritage breed to raise for generations.

BARRED ROCK ★

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Barred Plymouth Rock is one of the all-time, popular Heritage breeds in this country. They have narrow, clean barring and long, broad, deep bodies. They can't be beat for hardy, dual-purpose, steady, and reliable chickens. Hens are prolific brown egg layers, and are not discouraged by cold weather. For meat production, they are a beautiful, solid, plump, heavy roasting fowl. Our strain has the classic narrow, clean, barring on its feathering . They are long, broad, and deep-bodied and are bred for strength and vitality. Baby chicks are dark gray to black, with some white patches on their head and body.

Polish

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The Polish is a European breed known for their distinctive crests, or top hats, and their large cavernous nostrils. The upright head feathers of Polish can be attributed to what is called a vaulted skull.

Little is known about the breed’s origin but it is thought that the breed is Dutch. The Dutch word pol translates as head, and the oldest references to these sprightly birds is found in Dutch paintings from the 16th and 17th century. The breed was standardized in The Netherlands in the 16th century.

Polish are gentle and docile birds, but their crests limit their vision causing them to be timid and easily startled. Polish hens are productive white egg layers, rarely broody and considered non-setters. They were often kept as layers until the rise in popularity of the Leghorns. Today the breed is mostly kept for show and by hobbyists.

BUFF LACED POLISH

These rare birds are a rich golden buff with each feather neatly laced in creamy white, and slate-blue shanks and toes. Their flowing crests and sprightly carriage make them one of the most prized varieties. They are easy to handle, white egg layers, and are non-setters. There are two varieties: bearded and non-bearded, but we do not list these separately. Orders will usually include some of both. Baby chicks are creamy buff with a dark tan mark over each eye.

GOLDEN POLISH

The Golden Polish is possibly the most dramatic and ornamental of the Polish breed. These birds are very striking with their reddish-gold with feathers laced in black, bright red V-combs and waddles, and a crest of gold, black and sometimes creamy white. Like all Polish varieties, hens are good white egg layers and are non-setters. Baby chicks are dark brown.

Top Hat Special

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Top Hat, or crested, chickens are among the most interesting and quirky breeds with their full, feathery crests. Baby chicks are just as cute — their crests show up as little top hats right from the start. These breeds are very quiet, gentle, and don’t stray too far. Hens lay small white eggs. This STRAIGHT RUN assortment includes at least four different varieties from our Polish, Houdans, Crevecoeurs, and Sultans.

RHODE ISLAND RED

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

One of the most famous and all-time favorite American chicken breeds, the Rhode Island Red was developed in the early part of the last century in the state of Rhode Island. Our production strain of this old favorite is one of our best brown egg layers and is a solid dual-purpose fowl with outstanding production qualities. This heavy breed easily adapts to farm or backyard, and most climates. Baby chicks are a rusty red color and the mature birds are a variety of mahogany red.

Sex-Links

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

A sex-link is a hybrid cross that can be sexed by its color at the time of hatch, thus making chick sexing an easier process. This trait does not carry down to subsequent generations, however. These birds are bred specifically to be extremely good egg-layers — often producing 300 or more eggs per year, depending on the quality of care and feed. These brown egg layers are known for their ability to lay an abundance of large, brown eggs — just like the ones sold as organic and free range brown eggs at stores. These hens are a perfect choice for anyone interested in selling eggs at a local farmers' market. Order a straight run and raise the males as meat birds. These easy to raise birds have a good feed-conversion ratio and are good in most any climate. Hens begin laying at around 22 weeks and keep laying right through warm or cold weather, and easily adapt to any environment such as free ranging, on farm, or in a backyard coop.

AMBER STAR

New for 2021, the Amber Star (Amberlink) is a sex link chicken whose parent stock is the inverse of our Red Stars. Amber Star hens are a predominately white bird with red flecking, and cockerels are red with white flecks. These hardy layers will lay large brown eggs, even in cold weather.

RED STAR

This is one of our favorite breeds, and one of our best sellers. No other breed lays as many consistent, large brown eggs as the Red Star — even in colder climates. At approximately 22 weeks these hens will start to lay, and will keep on laying eggs right through hot or cold weather. Hens have an excellent disposition and are reddish brown with white flecks. Males are often raised as meat birds, and are white with reddish flecks.

WHITE FACED BLACK SPANISH

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

The White Faced Black Spanish is a graceful and stylish Heritage breed. They are thought to be the oldest breed in the Mediterranean class of poultry and fowl. They are similar to a Minorca, but these glossy black birds have a long pendulous white face and ear lobes. Hens lay white eggs, and are non-setters. Spanish chickens are quick and active birds bred for warmer climates. They have large single combs and wattles, so special care must be taken in colder climates to prevent frostbite.

NOTE: The white face of our Spanish is very slow to develop. We recommend allowing the birds to go through one molt if you plan on showing them.

SULTAN (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Sultans are an old, ornamental breed which originated in Southeastern Europe where they were once favored by the rulers of Turkey. Sultans came from Istanbul to England in the 1850s. This extremely rare breed has a full list of distinguishing characteristics including a crest, muff, beard, vulture hocks, fully feathered shanks and feet, and a fifth toe. These all white birds have a dramatic presence with their pure white feathering and contrasting bright red V-comb and wattles. Males sport a larger crest and tail, and females have a dainty rounded crest and shorter tails. Sultans are docile birds and have a sweet disposition. Hens are white egg layers and are non-setters.

SPECKLED SUSSEX

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Sussex was bred and developed in Sussex County, England, over a century ago for market purposes. Sussex have a unique rich mahogany coloring with some feathers tipped in white and others with a black bar. This well-rounded Heritage breed combines looks, personality and production. A flock of Speckled Sussex will keep a small farm or homestead in meat and eggs, as well as breeding true for successive generations. As an added bonus to their utility, Sussex are quiet and friendly birds. Hens are content to forage quietly, and roosters — like our owner's rooster Murray, pictured in the top/right photo — are gentle yet alert. Photos courtesy of Brittany Arquette & Sara Alvord.

TURKEN (NAKED NECK)

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

This unusual breed gets its name from the lack of feathers on its neck. These unique birds also have less-than-normal feathering around the breast area, under the wings, and around the vent. In spite of this feather shortage, Turkeys are a hardy breed and withstand cold weather very well. Our Turkeys come in a variety of feather colors and patterns. Hens are excellent brown egg layers and make great mothers to their chicks. Turkeys are great foragers and are very calm birds.

WELSUMMER (SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

The Welsummer is a single comb, clean legged variety that originated in Holland. This breed has a docile temperament, is cold hardy, and is known for its good production of a rich brown egg. The feathering of the males is very different from that of the females. The male's saddle, head and neck feathers are rich golden brown while the back, wing front and wing bows are bright reddish brown. Each feather on the back of the females is reddish brown, stippled with black, and has a distinct lighter shaft. Photos (center, right) courtesy of Teddi Yaeger.

Whittings

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

These two breeds are relatively new to the poultry scene, and a McMurray Hatchery exclusive. They're not Ameraucanas, "Easter Eggers," or "Olive Eggers." Each is its own breed, and they bear the name of the renowned poultry geneticist who developed them, Dr. Tom Whiting. With his broad background in poultry genetics, and selective breeding, he developed these two breeds to lay a consistently colored egg.

WHITING TRUE BLUE

Whiting True Blues, as their name indicates, were developed to lay a consistent blue egg. These birds look similar to an Ameraucana, however they are their own breed. Each bird will have a unique feather color, and pattern combination. Leg color will vary as well. come in a variety of feather colors and patterns, and leg colors. Many will have beards and muffs. Hens are medium-sized birds, excellent layers and not likely to set. Pullets will start out laying medium-sized eggs and progress to large eggs given adequate nutrition. They are heat tolerant, free range well, and have a good temperament.

WHITING TRUE GREEN

The Whiting True Green — a McMurray Hatchery exclusive — is rapidly gaining notoriety for their ability to lay an abundance of large green eggs. These hardy, easy to raise hens are our top layers overall, giving the White Leghorn a run for its money. Several of our customers who depend on money from their egg sales swear by these birds. Whiting True Green hens are reddish to chestnut colored, and on the light side. Averaging around three to four pounds, these birds have an astounding feed to egg conversion. These birds make a great addition to either a farm or backyard flock. They are friendly, active, excellent foragers and free range well.

Wyandottes

Wyandottes are a heavy looking breed, but that is in part due to their wide bodies and thick feathering. They come in a variety of colors and feather patterns, most of which have some form of lacing. Little is known about the origin of this breed, but the Silver Laced was the original variety.

BLUE LACED RED WYANDOTTE

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

One of our most popular breeds, this beautiful variety was developed by crossing the Silver Laced and Golden Laced varieties. The breed’s blue gene will color the lacing — the area outlining the reddish colored feathers — either light blue or dark blue. Therefore, each bird will vary somewhat in appearance. Hens are good brown egg layers and may set. The Blue Laced Red Wyandotte has a great disposition, does well in cold climates, and is an excellent forager.

on your flock with our farm-raised juvenile chicks and started pullets

Skip the brooder altogether to get a jump start on your flock, and your eggs, with juvenile chicks and started pullets. We understand many of our customers are in urban areas, and have limitations on flock size and roosters. Started chicks and pullets are also perfect for first-timers, or adding just a couple birds to your flock. Now you can order a farm-raised chicken that's out of the brooder and ready for the coop, or one that's older and ready to lay. Many popular and top laying breeds are available. Visit our website at McMurrayHatchery.com or call us at (800) 456-3280 for up to date information on available breeds, ship dates, and more.

4-6 WEEK-OLD CHICKS

Juvenile chicks are a great option for those looking for just a few female birds, with smaller yards, or local restrictions on flock size and roosters. Many of our popular chick breeds are vaccinated for Marek's and available to ship at just 4 to 6 weeks old. These female chicks are feathered out and can now regulate their own temperature without a brooder lamp.

STARTED PULLETS

You'll be collecting fresh eggs in no time with our started pullets! These girls are shipped between 15 and 22 weeks of age — most breeds will start laying at 24-28 weeks! Just provide them with 16-18 hours of light (natural or supplemented), complete feed ration and proper care and they will start laying. There is no minimum order, so you can order just a few to fill your coop.

AMERAUCANA

This is the Bantam that lays a blue colored egg. This breed is one of the most recent breeds in the U.S. Like the standard size Ameraucanas, they come in many different colors and feather patterns.

QUAIL ANTWERP
BELGIAN BEARDED D'ANVERS

The Quail Antwerp is a variety of the Belgian Bearded D'Anvers bantam. The quail color pattern is uniquely different than any other variety. The body is a brownish-black and is slightly tinged with a straw color, the breast is bay colored, and the head is black with a bay colored beard and muff. These fun, minature birds are very friendly. Photos courtesy of Claudia Hebert & Kayla Nunes.

Belgian Bearded D'Uccle

These beautiful birds came to Europe from Japan in the 17th century and can be seen in the paintings of many early Dutch artists. Today they are highly prized by backyard flock owners and poultry enthusiasts for their beauty, tiny size and large personalities. Known for their puffy beards, vulture hocks, heavy leg feathering, and wide-set tails, these little birds are a delight to keep.

MILLE FLEUR D'UCCLE

The Mille Fleur is one of the most colorful and interesting varieties we carry. They really stand out with their reddish-bay feathers tipped in white, muffed faces and booted legs. Their color will change as they age. These tiny birds have a sweet disposition and lay tiny white eggs.

BUFF BRAHMA

These bantams are derived from the larger, standard-size Buff Brahmas. These small, feather-footed birds are very gentle, quiet, and easy to handle. Hens are excellent setters, and lay small brown eggs. Buff Brahma Bantams are a beautiful golden buff color with black tails and laced hackles.

Cochin Bantams

Cochins are the most popular of our feather-legged bantams. Cochins originated in China and are heavily feathered down their legs and toes, making them appear much larger than they actually are.

Cochin Bantams are extremely gentle, quiet, excellent setters, and require little space — making them a perfect choice for families and urban backyard settings.

Bantam Assortments

Bantams are just one-fourth to one-fifth the size a standard-sized chicken. These miniature birds come in a variety of breeds and varieties, and are popular with families and urban backyard flock owners.

Bantams are easy to raise, and are often kept in backyard flocks as they easily adapt to confined areas such as small coops and runs. Bantams are also popular for showing and a top choice by 4-H kids across the U.S.

Choose from our four Bantam assortments to start your backyard flock or, if you're an experienced flock owner, add variety to your existing flock. Bantams are sold as STRAIGHT RUN ONLY (unsexed) and require a minimum order of 15 bantam chicks in order to ship safely. Save with volume pricing:

Japanese Bantams

Japanese Bantams are miniature birds with big attitude that are often raised for show. These popular tiny chickens are true Bantams, meaning that there are no large fowl counterparts. Japanese Bantams carry their tails upward — higher than their head — and their wings angle down and back. Japanese Bantam hens lay small white eggs and are fair layers.

Sebright Bantams

This ornamental breed is one of the oldest genuine Bantam breeds. It is the only breed of chicken that is “hen feathered” — meaning the male has no pointed sex feathers in the hackle, saddle, or tail. This breed is easy to raise, has a nice personality and is a good option for an urban environment.

SILVER SEBRIGHT

The Silver variety is a small yet stunning bird with its white feathers outlined in black and bright red rose comb and wattle. Our Sebrights are good layers – laying almost an egg a day each.

Unsexed. SSBS $5.92 ea.

WHITE CRESTED BLACK POLISH

This is a smaller version of our standard White Crested Black Polish. These Bantam birds are solid black with a bright white crest, and non-bearded. They are very small birds yet easy to care for — and a Bantam customer favorite.

Silkie Bantams

Both China and Japan claim the origin of the Silkie, and historians have traced them back to the days of Marco Polo. Silkies are very friendly and make excellent pet chickens. They are one of the most popular breeds for families and backyard flock owners. These tiny unique birds have black skin, hair-like feathers, a top crest, feathered legs and feet, and five toes. Our Silkies come both bearded and non-bearded, and lay small white eggs. Hens are tremendous setters and will hatch and raise almost any type of egg or chick they are given.

BLACK SILKIE

They are small bundles of all black hair-like feathers with a mulberry colored comb, face, and wattles. The ear lobes are a light blue turquoise and the skin is dark bluish/black. Like all Silkies, they are great setters of any type of eggs.

Unsexed. BSBS $5.92 ea.

BLUE SILKIE

Blues have all the qualities of the other silkies but, like other blue poultry, their offspring will vary in feather color. Approximately 50% of the baby chicks will be all blue. The other 50% will be black, white, or splash coloring.

Unsexed. BXBS $5.92 ea.

BUFF SILKIE

The Buff Silkie is a fairly rare variety. These golden buff-colored Silkies have the same black skin and mulberry comb, face and wattles of the other varieties. Order early as limited numbers of this variety are available.

Unsexed. BFBS $5.92 ea.

WHITE SILKIE

These soft, pure white Silkies have blueish black skin, mulberry colored comb and wattles, and turquoise earlobes. These docile, sweet birds are great for families and are a popular choice for backyard flocks. Hens make excellent mothers to young chicks and a broody hen will quickly adopt any other breeds of chicken or types of fowl to raise.

JUMBO CORNISH CROSS

FAST-GROWING: CHICK TO TABLE IN JUST 6-8 WEEKS

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER) Our Jumbo Cornish X Rock, or Cornish Cross, is our best-seller and the most remarkable meat producing bird we carry — we fill our own freezers with them each year. These are fast-growing birds with remarkable feed efficiency. Raise as pastured poultry on fresh grass daily for best results. Males will dress out at around 5-7 pounds in just 6-8 weeks, and females will take about one to two weeks longer. See page 102 for instructions on feeding these chicks. Not recommended altitudes above 5000 ft.

Item #	Sex	1-5	6-15	16-24	25-50	51-99	100+
CXRP	Female	$3.44	$3.27	$3.10	$2.92	$2.75	$2.58

CORNISH GAME HENS

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER)

Raise the same Cornish Game Hens sold in supermarket and restaurants yourself while still controlling your own food source, and raising them humanely. Grow out these female chicks on fresh grass out to a 2-2.5 pound live weight for the most delicious chicken you’ve ever tasted.

Item #	Sex	1-5	6-15	16-25	26-50	51-99	100+

Cornish Roaster, Cornish Game Hens and Jumbo Cornish X Rocks baby chicks are all similar in appearance. Cornish Roaster, Cornish Game Hens, and Jumbo Cornish X Rocks are hybrids, therefore not recommend for breeding. These hybrid birds will not produce the same high-quality results in subsequent generations, and due to their rapid growth rate they will be too large at time of sexual maturity to breed successfully. See page 102 for feeding instructions for these birds.

CORNISH ROASTER

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – EARLY JULY)

Cornish Roasters are ideal as fryers when butchered young, or raise them as a roaster or capon. These roasters take about two weeks longer to mature than the Jumbo Cornish Cross — with many of the same great qualities, but without the potential leg problems. Sold as straight run (unsexed) only.

DELAWARE ENHANCED
HERITAGE BROILER

RAISE A SUSTAINABLE, TRUE DUAL-PURPOSE FLOCK

(SHIPPED MARCH – SEPTEMBER) Our exclusive Delaware Enhanced Heritage Broiler is a meatier version of the traditional Delaware. These are true dual-purpose birds — raise them for eggs and process for meat when older, or raise them as a pastured breed for meat. Growth for these birds will be similar to a traditional Heritage breed.

MURRAY’S BIG RED BROILER

(SHIPPED FEBRUARY – OCTOBER) Murray’s Big Red Broiler is an updated version of our old favorite, the Red Ranger. Just like its predecessor, Murray’s Big Red is a great pasture bird and excellent forager. If you want a broiler without any of the problems of fast-growing breeds, this is the bird for you. Everyone who raises their own meat birds know they have better a taste than anything you can buy in the store — and by growing your own, you know how they were raised. Take our owner’s advice and spatchcock these, with a little salt and pepper, and bake for the best roasted chicken ever.

“ We tried Murray’s Big Red Broilers for the first time this year and we absolutely love them!

We have been growing our own pastured meat birds for our family for over 4 years now, and these Big Red Broilers were the biggest we ever grew! They grew to be very healthy big birds.

Overall we are pleased with the meat quality and they exceeded our family needs. We will be ordering them again next year!

MURRAY’S GINGER BROILER

HIGH-ALTITUDE TOLERANT, MEDIUM-GROWTH BIRDS

(SHIPPED MARCH – SEPTEMBER) Our new Ginger Broiler meat bird variety is built like a Cornish Cross, but with none of the issues of a fast-growing bird. These birds have heavy-to-medium growth, and are natural foragers, very active, and ascites resistant. With essentially no leg problems, high-altitude tolerant, and extremely easy to raise, this breed is a winner. Averaging 5 lbs. live weight puts them in the top tier for growth. Feather color will vary from nearly white to dark ginger-colored, and dress out very nicely.

Ducklings

Ducks are an attractive addition to any barnyard. Ducks are easy to raise, naturally free from disease, and they require little feed once started. Although most ducks are raised for their meat, they do lay well and can provide lots of eggs for baking.

BUFF

Also called Buff Orpington ducks, this breed originated in the famous Orpington Farms in England — also the home of the well-known Orpington chickens. The Buff drake and hen have the same soft buff coloring with the exception of the drake's seal- brown head. The hens are good layers and not broody. Mature ducks weigh between 5 and 6.25 lbs.

CAYUGA

The Cayuga is one of few American duck breeds, taking its name from Lake Cayuga, New York. These are quiet ducks that are very hardy and are known primarily for their brilliant “beetle” green coloring. Hens lay a light grey to charcoal egg. Ducklings have black feet, bills, and down with the occasional trace of yellow on their breast. Mature ducks weigh between 4.75 and 6 lbs.

DUCLAIR

NEW! The French have been perfecting breeding ducks for the tastiest flavor in various regions for centuries. The Duclair is a French breed developed for their rich and earthy tasting meat — celebrated by chefs for centuries Duclairs look similar to a Pekin but they are smaller. These quick growers should weigh 5-6 lbs. and be ready for processing by 7-12 weeks. Duclairs are also very good layers, laying 80-100+ large green eggs per year. Duclairs are great for any size farm or backyard flocks.

GOLD STAR HYBRID

These ducks were developed for commercial flocks to lay more and larger eggs than the Khaki Campbell, and have a calmer temperament with a higher fertility. Coloring may vary from the photo here — males will be shades of black, females will be shades of brown. They are sexed by color but will not retain these characteristics in future generations.

KHAKI CAMPBELL

Khakis are known for being one of the best general purpose ducks, and they are probably the best layers of all domestic ducks. They have a mature weight of around 4.5 lbs., and their light feathering makes them easy to dress when processing. Females are seal-brown, and males are the same with touches of darker brown and a resemblance to the drake Mallard. Khaki Campbells are excellent foragers and withstand cool climates very well.

FLYING MALLARD

It's really a treat to see these brightly colored ducks flying about — and they will fly! The color pattern is the same as a Rouen, but these birds are much smaller and their meat has a gamey taste not found in domestic ducks. Mature ducks weigh between 2.25 and 2.5 lbs.

Muscovy

The Muscovy is the one domestic duck breed that is not derived from the Mallard. They are actually large perching waterfowl. These calm and quiet drakes and hens often share nests and hatching duties. Muscovys are kept for natural insect control on farms and homestead, and raised as meat birds. The meat from a Muscovy is 98% fat free and not greasy like other duck meat. Our flock of Muscovys is mostly white, with the occasional dark spot on their head or body.

Pekins

Originating in China, Pekins were brought to the western world in the mid-1800s. Their fine meat quality and laying ability quickly made them a first choice among American duck growers. Both sexes are creamy white, with yellow skin and very large breasts. Mature ducks weigh between 8 and 12.25 lbs. The Jumbo Pekin is a meat duck and is bred primarily for size — approximately 15-18% larger than the standard Pekin, averaging 9 to 13.5 lbs.

“As someone who raises chickens and ducks for egg production, meat and breeding purposes, I believe it is extremely important to purchase quality birds. I have purchased from other hatcheries and breeders in the past, but none of them have matched my experience with Murray McMurray Hatchery.

Whether you are looking for hatching eggs, babies or pullets, they have it all — as well as rare breeds which are hard to find other places. My family and I have raised egg-laying chickens and ducks from McMurray Hatchery and have had excellent experiences each time. Khaki Campbells and the Gold Star are my two favorite egg-laying ducks. And for chickens, I have really enjoyed raising Black Australorps, Red Stars, and Rhode Island Reds.

This year, when my family and I decided to raise our very first batch of meat broilers, it was an easy decision where to go, and we were not disappointed. We got 50 Cornish Crosses and amazingly we only lost three. And when it came time to process them 8 weeks later, our birds averaged 6lbs. They were PERFECT!”

ROUEN

These attractive ducks bear the name of the famous French city where they originated. Similar to the wild Mallard in color, males have a lustrous green head and neck, a rich purplish brown chest, and steel gray penciling on the upper body. Females are mahogany brown with fine penciling of greenish black or brown. Mature ducks weigh between 5 and 7.25 lbs.

RUNNER

Sometimes called “Indian Runner Ducks,” these long, slender fowl developed in Scotland around 1900 from stock that came from the East Indies. These uniquely appearing ducks have tall, slender bodies and a vertical posture — thus, their nicknames “Penguin Ducks” and “Bottle Necks.” Runners do not waddle like other ducks but move with a quick step. They are good foragers, lay blue-white eggs, and are a very fun addition to any farmstead — including our own, pictured here. Mature ducks weigh between 3.25 and 4 lbs.

SAXONY

This light buff-cream colored breed was developed in Germany in the 1930's. Saxonys are excellent dual-purpose birds. Hens are buff with creamy white facial stripes, neck ring, and underbody. Drakes have blue-gray head, back, and wing markings, a rich chestnut-burgundy breast, cream underbody and flanks, and white neck ring. Mature ducks weigh approx. 6.5-8.5 lbs.

SWEDISH

Swedish ducks are known for their black and blue colors, and a white ‘bib’ that runs from under the bill to halfway down their breast. These ducks also have some white on their wings that creates a very eye-appealing color contrast. Swedish are very hardy ducks and good foragers. Drakes will weigh up to 8 pounds. The hens will weigh up to 7 pounds and will lay mostly white eggs with an occasional blue or gray tinted egg. The genetics of the blue gene when breeding poultry will produce 50% blue ducklings. The other half will be an array of black, white and splash ducklings.

WELSH HARLEQUIN

Welsh Harlequin are a fairly new breed. Developed in Wales, they were brought to the U.S. in the 1960s, and accepted into the American Poultry Association in 2001 in the Light Duck class. Females are excellent layers, good setters, and great mothers to their ducklings. They are calm, inquisitive and excellent foragers. Interestingly, they can be sexed after hatching with 90% accuracy by their bill color — males have darker bills, while lighter bills ending in a dark spot are females. Mature ducks will weigh between 4.5 and 5.5 lbs.

WHITE CRESTED

The White Crested duck is a good dual purpose breed. Hens are good layers, and they grow rapidly making a good choice for those who want to raise some for meat production. These ducks stand out in a flock with their unique crests on their head. Baby ducklings also have large crests on them at hatching. Mature ducks weigh between 6 and 7.25 lbs.

Chinese

The Chinese goose is an old breed derived from the wild Asiatic Swan goose. The earliest record of these geese in the U.S. can be found in the correspondence of George Washington who, in 1788 received a pair from Governor Morris. The Chinese goose has a prominent raised knob above its beak. White Chinese are the most prolific laying geese, and have been known to lay in the fall or winter. The Brown Chinese is smaller than the White, with identical coloring to the African. Chinese geese are a talkative breed, and great for raising the alert when intruders are near or strange occurrences happen.

providing the highest quality poultry to our customers for 104 years

“Selecting a hatchery which has longevity behind it is important to my homestead. It is validation that a company, especially one which deals with poultry, knows the importance of carrying the birds which will allow us to continue to own our food source.

McMurray Hatchery offers everything from healthy, true-to-breed egg layers to sustainable, breeding meat birds such as the Delaware Enhanced Heritage Broilers.

I have yet to find a hatchery which understands a homesteader’s way of life better than this one.”

WHITE EMBDEN

White Embden geese originated by the Em River in Germany, and were first brought to the U.S. in 1821. These all white fowl have the same massive appearance as a Toulouse. They make an excellent meat bird as their soft white feathers are easier to dress. Average Fall weights are 20 pounds for males, and 13 pounds for females. Embdens also make excellent show birds.

PILGRIM

The Pilgrim is the only domestic goose breed in which you can distinguish males from females at any age. Day-old males are yellow and light gray with lighter colored bills, females are a deeper gray/green with a darker bill. Adult males are white with a touch of gray on the rump or wings. Females are gray like a Toulouse but often with white on their head. These calm, quiet geese are excellent parents and foragers. Egg fertility is lower than other breeds — averaging just around 55% over the complete season. LIMIT 5 PER CUSTOMER.

TOULOUSE

Named for the famous city of Toulouse in France, these geese — along with White Embdens — are the most popular commercial geese sold in America. They produce excellent yields of goose down and all dark meat. The varying shades of gray in the plumage emphasize their deep, rounded breasts and massive appearance. Fall weights for these geese average 18 to 20 pounds for males, and 12 to 13 pounds for females.

STANDARD BRONZE Unsexed. Mat. Wt.: Tom 36 lbs., Hen 20 lbs.

Before modern commercial breeding created the “Broad Breasted” Bronze, we had the “Standard” Bronze. It is about 3/4 the size of the Broad Breasted but it can breed naturally, eats less and generally avoids potential leg problems sometimes caused by very rapid growth. The delicious flavor in the meat and the feather coloring is the same in both breeds.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Raising chickens away from turkeys and game birds is a good preventative measure in controlling Blackhead (Histomonas meleagridis). Blackhead can damage the liver of turkeys and game birds. Cecal worms, a common parasite found in chickens, act as an intermediate host for the Blackhead organism.

NARRAGANSETT Unsexed. Mat. Wt.: Tom 33 lbs., Hen 18 lbs.

This rare, multi-colored, medium-sized breed is primarily black with bands of steel gray, with a dull black tail that is penciled with parallel lines of tan, and edged in steel gray. They are known for being more calm than most and are good mothers.

Guineas (SHIPPED MAY – SEPTEMBER)

Originally from Africa, Guineas are prized for their all-dark, gamey tasting meat. Newly hatched guineas, called keets, are very active from the start. Mature guineas are active foragers, thriving on bugs, insects — including ticks — and weeds and seeds. Many of our customers report that by adding guineas to their homestead, it has greatly reduced the number of ticks, particularly the deer tick. Guineas also are known to call attention to vistors and other occurences.

PLEASE NOTE: Until 12 weeks of age, different colors of guineas will look similar and be difficult to distinguish. Guineas are sold as straight run only. To help guineas get off to a good start, place a few marbles in their water. It will keep them from possible drowning.

Pheasants (SHIPPED APRIL – JULY)

RINGNECK

Brought from China, these beautiful wild birds are delicious to eat and a colorful addition to your yard or farm. Many of our customers turn some loose to see them growing wild around their property. Jumbo Ringneck pheasants appear to be very similar to the Chinese Ringnecks in appearance. This larger variety is raised primarily for meat production, taxidermy, or ornamental use and will average about one pound more than the standard Chinese Ringneck.

Please check with the Regulatory Agency in your state that controls wildlife management before placing your order — you may need a permit.

A physical address of the final destination is required for health papers that accompany the birds. This must be provided when placing an order for pheasants. Pheasants are sold as straight run only. Availability varies by breed.

Pheasant orders must total 30, 60, 90 or 120 birds to ensure safe delivery

Chukar Partridge

(SHIPPED APRIL – MID JULY)

These attractive little birds domesticate easily or do well in the wild. Chukars are very quick, about 2/3 the size of a pheasant with barred feathers on the sides, and a bright orange beak — a real treat for either the table or farmstead. Sold as straight run (unsexed) only.

Chukar orders must total 35 or 70 birds to ensure safe delivery.

Incubation

Nothing compares to placing an egg in an incubator and watching it hatch just 21 days later. We've been hatching chicks weekly for 104 years, and it never gets old. For most chicken keepers, there comes a time when they want to try their hand at hatching their own chicks. Are you ready to take the plunge? Shop our curated collection of incubators and hatchers — and give us a call if you have questions along the way.

BRINSEA MINI II ADVANCE

This fully-automated home incubator holds seven chicken eggs and controls both temperature to ensure consistent and reliable hatches. Just add water to the reservoir each day for humidity. Features automatic egg turning with auto-stop two days prior to hatching, countdown to hatch, temperature alarms, and a digital display. Operates at low voltage for safety.

EGGS SOLD SEPARATELY. Pheasant-sized turner disk sold separately.

Electrolytes for Baby Chicks

QUIK CHIK

Newly hatched chicks/poultry do not need water or food for 2-3 days during shipping because of the yolk they ingest at the time of hatching. However, after their long journey your chicks will need water and food when they arrive. Quik Chik from McMurray Hatchery is our own combination of vitamins and electrolytes. Just add it to their drinking water right from the first day. Helps chicks overcome shipping stress and vitamin shortage. Order extra to help your chicks during stressful times like molting and extreme heat! One 4 oz. package will handle about 200 chicks for 2 weeks. Meets NOP/USDA National Organic Standards. Verify with your certifying agency before using.

BROILER BOOSTER

Cornish X Rocks, Roasters, Turkeys, and other heavy breeds of chickens have astounding growth rates, but if managed incorrectly, this rapid growth can sometimes cause health problems. Broiler Booster contains Vitamins A, D, E, B-12, electrolytes, and biotin, which really works to counteract weak legs. When added to your chicks' water, it will increase the birds' overall health and strength, and result in more food on the table. Please consider giving your birds this fine product if you are ordering any of the larger type birds. 4 oz.

GRO-GEL PLUS

For baby poultry to grow and live efficiently, they must readily start to eat and drink. Gro-Gel Plus provides immediate nutrition, hydration and micro-organisms to jump-start their digestive system. Research has shown that it results in substantially improved livability, mature body weights, and reducing bird loss — and money — in the long run We believe Gro-Gel Plus works — that's why we ship every chick order with it! Add some over your chicks' feed to start. Its bright green color attracts chicks to their feed. GroGel Plus contains proteins and amino acids, carbohydrates and fats, vitamins, and probiotic bacteria. One packet will handle about 100 baby chicks or turkey poults, 200 pheasant chicks or ducklings, or 400 baby quail.

Enclosures & Fencing

ELECTRIC POULTRY FENCING

PoultryNet® fencing contains most non-flying poultry and protects them from most ground predators. It is also excellent for rapidly rotating the poultry from one grass and/or garden area to another. When powered on, the close spacing (2.5" x 3") of the vertical and lower horizontal wires provides both a physical and a pain barrier to birds, and the pain barrier repels most predators. Line posts are attached to the netting. Quick and easy to install, adjust and remove. Not for use with turkeys. Fencing is 164 feet long by 48" tall. Includes four corner/end posts. An energizer, sold separately below, is needed to power the fence.

NITE GUARD SOLAR®

Nite Guard Solar is a safe, natural way to protect your flock, other livestock and gardens from nighttime predators. Developed on the principal that all night animals share the fear of being watched and therefore threatened. Studies have shown the color red to be a universal alarm color for all animals. The red flash of Nite Guard Solar mimics the eye of another animal to give the impression of a threat, which in turn helps to ward off nocturnal predators. WORKS BEST WITH FOUR UNITS. Nite Guard Solar features:

- Solar Powered
- Completely Weatherproof
- Activates at dusk, flashes all night, every night.
- Stops Intruders. Appears as a Security Camera.

MURRAY'S #1-SIZED CHICK GRIT

Our #1-sized chick grit is a smaller size for baby chicks and juvenile birds. Chick starter is typically milled finely enough so that baby chicks don't usually need grit at first. However, they will need grit once they begin eating treats and other foods, or foraging in the yard and run. Simply sprinkle a small amount of grit on top of your juvenile chicks' feed. Chick grit is also available in 1-, 10-, & 20-lb. tubs on our website.

2.5 lb. Tub. 6G125 - $5.79

MURRAY'S #3-SIZED GRIT FOR ADULT BIRDS

Poultry have to have grit to break down the food they eat. As chickens and other birds forage and eat seeds, grasses, bugs and other things, they need the rough rock in order to process the food and digest it. Murray's Best #3 sized grit is much ideal for adult chickens and large birds. Offer grit as a free choice to your flock in a separate feeder. Chick grit is also available in 1-, 10-, & 20-lb. tubs on our website.

10 lb. Tub. 6G310 - $17.99

PROSO WHITE MILLET

Poultry love to eat Proso (white millet) and it's high in protein. Throw some in your coop or run as a nutritional treat. Plant the millet in your poultry yard for your chickens to eat as it grows – when allowed to grow, Proso makes an excellent foraging crop. Or sprout it to make fodder to give your flock some greens in the winter months. Sorry, Proso cannot be shipped to Canada. Also available in 2-, & 6 lb. tubs on our website.

1 lb. Tub. 6P1 - $6.00

MURRAY'S ALL NATURAL DUSTING POWDER

All birds, especially chickens, love to dust bathe to rid themselves of the itch of lice and mites. Murray's Dusting Powder eliminates lice and mites from all birds — and does it without chemicals when used on a regular basis. Caring for Baby Poultry

Getting Started with Baby Chicks, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Guineaes, Pheasants, and Partridge

Your new baby poultry will arrive two to three days after they ship. Baby chicks do not need food or water for those few days because they ingest the yolk of the egg as they hatch. However, when they arrive they will need water, food, and a warm brooder. A brooder is a confined space that is free from drafts. Baby poultry will need a brooder for approximately four weeks until they are feathered out and can regulate their own temperature. To help you get your chicks off to a good start, this page includes some important information to keep in mind as you prepare for the arrival of your poultry. Please read this information carefully. If you have questions, contact our Customer Service department at 800.456.3280.

5 BASICS TO CARING FOR BABY POULTRY

- FEED: Use a commercial chick starter (page 93) for the first 8 weeks. On the first day, cover the litter with newspaper and spread some feed on the papers and have your feeders full also. This will allow the new birds to find the feed. Use a 2-foot feeder (page 84-85) for each 25 chicks. After the first day, remove the papers from the starting area. Please refer to the next page for feed protein levels for the type of poultry you are ordering.
- WATER: You will need a 1-gallon chick waterer (page 86-87) for each 50 birds. Your birds will be thirsty when you get them. DIP THE BEAK OF EACH CHICK IN THE WATER BEFORE YOU TURN IT LOOSE IN THE BROODER. For best results, have either Quik Chik or Broiler Booster (page 79) in the water. A taste of water right away helps them to find more water soon. Most baby bird loss is caused because the bird doesn’t start to eat or drink. Never let your birds run out of water. For the first 2 days, you can add 3 tablespoons of table sugar to each quart of water for extra energy if needed.
- HEAT: Baby poultry need a brooder where the temperature is 90 to 95 degrees for the first week. Reduce the temperature by 5 degrees per week, until you get to 70 degrees. By then they be feathered out and shouldn’t need any more heat. A good source of heat is a brooder lamp (page 77-79), with a 250-watt heat bulb, hung 18” above the brooder floor. Red bulbs are preferred as white light may cause picking. The temperature directly under the bulb may be higher than 90 degrees, but the birds will adjust themselves to the area they like. Use one bulb for each 50 chicks in cold weather. Use 1 bulb for each 100 chicks in warm weather
- LIGHT: If you use a heat bulb, this will also serve as the light you need. If not, your birds will need light. Use a 75-watt bulb on dark days. A small light at night — approx. 15 watts — can be used at night to prevent piling.
- SPACE: Provide an area 1/2 square foot per bird at the start. Use a draft shield or brooder guard (page 78) — is a circle of cardboard about 12 inches high around the birds which helps cut down drafts. For 50 chicks, make the circle about 5-6 feet across; or 7-8 feet across for 100 birds.

OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS

- LITTER: Wood shavings, rice hulls, or ground cobs make good litter. Do not use cedar chips, sawdust (It is too small and the birds may eat it instead of their food), or treated wood chips. Sand, straw, or dirt will also work but are not as good as the others. Put the litter all over the floor at least 1 inch thick. Keep it covered for the first day with newspapers to keep the chicks from eating the litter instead of the feed. To avoid possible leg problems, remove the papers after the first day for heavy breeds and meat birds and after the third day for lighter breeds.
- GRIT: POULTRY MUST HAVE GRIT. Poultry do not have teeth, and need grit in order to break down food in their crop and gullet. Starting on the 3rd day, sprinkle Chick Grit (#1 size, page 94) on the feed daily as if you were salting your food. Avoid putting too much at any one time as the birds may fill up on it instead of the feed.
- PICKING: Baby birds will often pick each other if they are too hot, too crowded, bored, or without fresh air. Bright light can also cause them to pick, and sometimes they pick for no apparent reason. To stop it, try giving them fresh, green, grass clippings a few times a day and darken the room. Treat injured birds using an anti-pick product on the injured area until healed. If necessary, separate the injured or the aggressive bird.

SPECIAL SITUATIONS AFTER THE CHICKS ARRIVE

- IF THE BIRDS HAD A HARD TRIP: Instead of using the standard feed and water suggestions listed, try this: Put 6 more tablespoons of sugar in each gallon of water. Then mix some of this extra sweet water with some of your feed to make a soupy mix. Give your birds this special feed and water mix for 3 to 4 days to get them over the effects of shipping.
- REAR END “PASTING UP”: Sometimes the stress of shipping causes the manure to stick to the back of the bird. It is important to remove this daily. Using a cloth and warm water, gently soak and loosen the dried manure from the area being careful to not pull out the down. This should disappear in a few days as the bird starts to grow.
- CORNISH X ROCKS & BARBECUE SPECIAL: Start these birds on a broiler starter. The higher protein has been known to help avoid leg problems. We recommend to start limit feeding at around 12 days of age. Fill the feeders each day, and let it run out in the late afternoon. Research has shown the birds will grow just a fraction slower, but have considerably less problems, by not feeding them continuously. Also add extra vitamins from the start. Add Broiler Booster (page 87) to their water from start to finish. Although management, environment, and feed quality will affect the growth rates, Cornish Game Hens should be ready to butcher by 4 weeks. Cornish X Rock cockerels should have a dressed weight of 3-4 pounds in 6-8 weeks. Pullets and Cornish Roasters will take 1-2 weeks longer. Under good conditions birds will gain 0.5-1 pound per week after 6-7 weeks. If you let these birds continue to grow they can experience leg and heart problems.

AFTER FOUR WEEKS:

- SPACE: Increase floor area to 0.75 sq. ft. per bird.
- FEEDERS: Increase feeders to provide 2.5-3 inches of space per bird.
- WATERERS: Increase waterers to one 5-gallon fount per 100 birds.
- GRIT: Make sure grit hopper is filled with the proper sized grit. Check with your feed man.
- ROOSTS: Install roosts at the back of the brooder area. Allow 4 inches per bird with roost poles 6 inches apart.
- FRESH AIR: Open windows in daytime, and leave only partly open at night — weather permitting.
- RAISE WATER FOUNTS: Prevent water puddles around founts by placing founts on low platforms.
- GET OUTSIDE: Birds can range outside on warm, sunny days if a clean, safe area is available.

CARING FOR DUCKS & GEESE

- FEED: Feed starter crumbles up to four weeks of age. Grower pellets are preferred from that point on. Layer pellets can be introduced gradually at their first egg. Mash should not be fed at any time unless it is moistened at each feeding, and care should be taken to avoid spoilage. Whole and cracked grains can be used to supplement the pellets at maturity. Green grass and vegetable trimmings can be given at any time.
- WATER: Ducklings should have access to drinking water at all times but not enough for them to walk or swim in. Since they have been hatched in an incubator, they do not have their mother’s protective oil on their down, therefore they can be easily chilled if allowed to be in water. Access to swimming water can be given when full feathered at approximately two months of age.
- HEAT: The first week they will need access to areas heated to 90°. This can be reduced 5° per week. For small numbers, a heat lamp suspended 18” above the bedding is fine. Heating may take daily adjustments. If they are huddled or climbing on one another, increase the temperature. If they move away from their heat source, reduce the temperature. Take care to protect them from all drafts.
- HEALTH: Keep the bedding as dry as possible (wood shavings are the best). Do not use cedar chips, sawdust, or treated wood chips for bedding. Once your ducklings or goslings are one month, old allow them room to exercise and play outdoors during the day if possible. Also protect them from dogs, cats and other predators. You should have few health problems if you follow all the above instructions. If you do have any problems, try adding Terramycin to their diet.

 PLEASE NOTE: Leg bands that identify sex of birds SHOULD BE REMOVED upon arrival.

Protect Your Chicks with These Vaccinations

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Protect your new flock with these important vaccinations. We recommend vaccinating chicks against Coccidiosis and Marek’s disease. As you place your order, check YES on the box asking if you would like your chicks vaccinated.

COCCIDIOSIS VACCINATION

Keeping small poultry flocks healthy and productive requires skilled husbandry practices. We offer a Coccidiosis vaccine to help you protect your flock. Coccidia are common protozoan parasites present in almost all chicken yards that can lay dormant for years until chickens are introduced. Heavy infections of coccidia cause serious disease and can kill many chickens. Chickens of all ages can come down with coccidiosis, but 4-16 week-old chickens are most commonly affected. Wet litter, poor nutrition and concurrent diseases are the most common triggers of Coccidiosis. We offer vaccinations because it is best to vaccinate chicks at 1-3 days of age. A successful vaccination will provide long-lasting immunity. PLEASE READ: To reduce the threat of coccidiosis you should either:
1) Have us vaccinate your birds and not use medicated feed. OR 2) Use a medicated feed containing a coccidiostat. ORGANIC GROWERS: Vaccinations are in compliance with the NOP/USDA organic standards. You should verify with your certifying agency before having us vaccinate your chicks.

MAREK’S VACCINATION

Marek’s is a widespread disease affecting domestic chickens in all sections of the world. It is characterized by lesions affecting the nervous system, organs, and other tissues. Young chickens under 16 weeks of age are most susceptible. There is no treatment for Marek’s once the birds are infected. Chicks must be vaccinated as close to the time of hatch as possible for the vaccine to be effective. We vaccinate all of our own breeding stock and highly recommend you do the same. Vaccinating your birds for Marek’s is another appropriate step in strong poultry management. Don’t take any chances, let us vaccinate your chicks prior to shipment of your order. Don’t forget to check YES on vaccinations when placing your order.

Why Order McMurray Hatchery Poultry

QUALITY & SATISFACTION

The backbone of our business is based on customer satisfaction and quality. Without both, our company would have been gone years ago. We are the oldest and largest rare breed Hatchery in the United States. Since 1917, we have been supplying top quality poultry and related products nationwide. Your complete satisfaction with our company, and products, is our number one concern.

NPIP CERTIFIED

We participate in the National Poultry Improvement Plan by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are classified as U.S. APPROVED: PULLORUM-TYPHOID CLEAN, and we operate under the inspection and control of the Iowa Department of Agriculture. These regulatory agencies assure you we have the highest standards in breeding stock, hatchery operation, and disease control.

YOU CAN PICK ONE OF EACH

Many of our customers want to raise just a few chicks of a few varieties. For over 100 years we have remained true to our roots, serving the needs of small backyard flock owners and poultry enthusiasts. When placing your order, you can select as few as one of any breed as long as the total meets the minimum number required for each type of poultry in that order. We do recommend ordering a few of each breed however, to ensure you get a good sample of a variety.

HAND-PACKED WITH CARE

We know you take great care in selecting the breeds for your flock when placing your order with us. We do everything possible to ensure you receive the highest quality poultry. Each box of chicks ordered from us is hand-packed by a team member and shipped to you with care, and our patented, custom-made, reinforced boxes are specially designed to protect them on their journey.

EXTRA CHICKS FOR WARMTH

We do a number of things to assure that your birds arrive healthy and happy. We use a specially designed chick shipping box, adjust ventilation holes, and time our shipping to have access to the most airline flights to name a few. Adding extra males (free of charge) for warmth is also another option for us. If you do not want us to add extra chicks, please order in multiples of the minimums listed above, and let us know you do not want extra chicks when you are ordering.

CHOOSE FEMALES, MALES, OR STRAIGHT RUN

No other hatchery allows you to choose so many different varieties of chickens by sex. Order females (pullets), males (cockerels), or straight run (as hatched). We have professional sexers that come to the hatchery on hatch day, sex the birds, and we guarantee their work. Each breed listing in this catalog, and on our website, indicates how each breed is sold. Please note, we cannot guarantee an equal number of males and females in a straight run order.

SMALL MINIMUM ORDERS

Whether you are just starting a backyard flock, or adding to an existing one, our low minimums are sure to meet your needs. Over a century of experience shipping baby poultry goes into our guidelines on our minimum orders. Baby chicks and other poultry need the warmth of each other, and the cushion, to safely make their journey. In warmer months, our minimum order for baby chicks is 6 on specific breeds (a small order fee is required), other breeds have a 15 minimum. Our minimum remains at 25 during colder months to ensure safe delivery. If you are needing less than that minimum, consider our 4-week-old or started pullets which have no minimums.

MINIMUMS FOR EACH TYPE OF POULTRY:

Chickens.....	25, 6* After 4/1	Guineas	30	Peafowl	8
Ducks	10, 2 After 4/1	Partridge.....	35	Turkeys	15
Geese	10, 2 After 4/1	Pheasants.....	30	Quail.....	30 OR 100

SUBSTITUTIONS

Occasionally we will have breeds which did not hatch as well as expected. When this happens, we would like to substitute extra chicks, of equal or greater value, of breeds similar to what you had ordered. If you indicate no substitutions, we will either delay your order or ship it minus those birds and refund you. Many of our customers prefer to have the original total number of chicks they ordered rather than a refund. If you phone in your order we will ask you about substitutions. If you mail your order, please indicate your substitution preference on the order blank.

OUR GUARANTEE

POULTRY 48-HOUR LIVE ARRIVAL AND LIVABILITY

WE GUARANTEE to ship birds that are healthy and true to variety. We will provide clear and reliable information regarding the proper care of baby poultry. We will either refund your money, replace your birds, or credit your account, one time, any bird that has been properly cared for but has died within 48 hours after time of arrival. Please contact us within 48 hours, with any and all of your losses, should they occur.

OUR SHARED RESPONSIBILITY between you, the poultry buyer, and us, the supplier, is important to understand because we are dealing with living birds, some will occasionally fail despite our mutual best efforts.

OUR JOB is to provide vigorous, healthy birds and to get them to you in top shape. We have been doing this since 1917 and our longevity within the industry speaks for our ability to do our part successfully. For a full guarantee report to us within 48 hours after arrival, any birds that may have died during this period. Reports must be made by calling our Customer Service department at 800.456.3280.

YOUR JOB is to start the birds promptly upon arrival following to the letter each prescribed need of baby poultry as spelled out on page 102 of this catalog. Follow this successful starting method to assure your baby poultry the opportunity to grow to maturity and satisfy you and your family for years to come. Please follow “Care of Baby Poultry” to the letter and you should have no problems raising your birds. If our birds get the prescribed care and do not live, it is our responsibility and we will make good. But if they arrive in good health and are lost to neglect, that is your responsibility. While we will certainly share your disappointment, we cannot share your loss.

We promise to do our job to the highest standards we know and count on you to do the same.

SEXING

We guarantee 90% accuracy on all sexed poultry.

For any of the above situations, we can do one of the following:

1. Refund your money.
2. Credit your account to be used on anything we sell at any time.
3. Replace your loss. Your new order must meet the minimum number of birds required for safe shipping.

MERCHANDISE

If you buy any item from us that does not meet your specifications, please return it to us for a full refund or credit. Vaccines and some other health care items and some processing equipment cannot be returned. See page 106 of this catalog for return policy. AT NO TIME WILL OUR GUARANTEE EXCEED THE ORIGINAL PURCHASE PRICE.

 On specific breeds only. A small order fee is required. See page 2 or call 800.456.3280 for more information.*

Practicing Good Biosecurity

At McMurray Hatchery we have very stringent biosecurity procedures, vaccination program, and testing to ensure you receive healthy chicks. We participate in the USDA National Poultry Improvement Plan (NPIP), are certified Pullorum-Typhoid Clean, AI Clean and Salmonella Monitored. As participants in these programs, we follow a very strict vaccination, biosecurity, and testing protocol. We test all of our flocks monthly for AI and Salmonella. You can help keep your flock healthy by reading and following the Biosecurity guidelines recommended by the United State Department of Agriculture below.

TIPS TO PREVENT POULTRY DISEASE

1. KEEP YOUR DISTANCE.

Restrict access to your property and your birds. Consider fencing off the area where your birds are to form a barrier between “clean” and “dirty” areas. The clean area is the immediate area surrounding your birds, and the dirty or buffer area must be considered to be infected with germs, even if the birds appear healthy and disease free.

Allow only people who take care of your birds to come into contact with them. Your caretakers should not attend bird shows or other events where birds are present. If visitors to your property want to see your birds, be sure they wash up first and clean their shoes. Better yet, keep clean boots for visitors to wear. If your visitors have birds of their own, do not let them near your birds at all.

Game birds and migratory waterfowl should not have contact with your flock because they can carry germs and diseases. If your birds are outdoors, try to keep them in a screened area.

2. KEEP IT CLEAN.

You wouldn’t think of tracking dirt and disease into your house, where it could infect your family. Don’t do that to your birds either! Germs can be picked up on shoes and clothing and moved from one area to another. To keep your birds germ-free, keep a pair of shoes and a set of clothes to wear only around your birds. Many people keep these clean clothes in a covered pail at the entrance to their bird area. Or, clean and disinfect your shoes and launder your clothes before you check on or work with your birds.

Scrubbing your shoes with a long-handled scrub brush and disinfectant will remove droppings, mud, or debris. Clothes should be washed in a washing machine with laundry detergent.

Wash your hands thoroughly with soap, water, and a disinfectant before entering your bird area.

Keep cages, food, and water clean on a daily basis. Clean and disinfect equipment that comes in contact with your birds or their droppings. That includes tools such as feed scoops, shovels, rakes, and brooms. All manure must be removed before disinfectant can work, so clean surfaces with soap and water first. Properly dispose of dead birds by burial or incineration or take them to a landfill. Check on local ordinances for acceptable disposal methods.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT AVIAN INFLUENZA (THE BIRD FLU)

Avian Influenza (also known as “bird flu”) is an ongoing concern. We share the following as a public service to keep our customers better informed with suggestions on ways to help protect your flocks.

PROTECTING YOUR FLOCK

The best way to protect your flock is to follow strict bio-security procedures:

- Protect your flock from coming into contact with wild birds. A major vector for the introduction of Avian Influenza is migratory birds.
- Use foot-baths with appropriate disinfectants to clean footwear when moving from an area where wild birds might be present, to the areas where your flocks are housed.
- For a complete list read “Tips to Prevent Poultry Disease” online at <https://l.mcmh.biz/USDA-Avian-Flu-Brochure>

3. DON’T HAUL DISEASE HOME.

Car and truck tires, poultry cages, and equipment can all harbor germs. When traveling to a location where other birds are present, or even to the feed store, be sure to clean and disinfect these items before return to your property.

Taking some of your birds to a fair or exhibition? Keep those birds separated from the rest of your flock and watch them for at least 2 weeks after the event to ensure that they didn’t pick up a disease.

New birds should be kept separate from your flock for at least 30 days before putting them with the rest of your birds. To prevent disease, it is best not to mix young and old birds or birds from different species or different sources.

4. DON’T BORROW DISEASE FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Do not share birds, lawn and garden equipment, tools, or poultry supplies with your neighbors or other bird owners. If you do bring these items home, clean and disinfect them before they reach your property. And remember to clean and disinfect borrowed items before returning them. Never share items such as wooden pallets or cardboard egg cartons because they are porous and cannot be adequately cleaned and disinfected.

5. KNOW THE WARNING SIGNS OF INFECTIOUS BIRD DISEASES.

Many bird diseases can be difficult to diagnose. The list below includes some of the things to look for that signal something might be wrong with your birds. Early detection of signs is very important to prevent the spread of disease.

- Sudden death
- Diarrhea
- Decreased or complete loss of egg production; soft-shelled, misshapen eggs
- Sneezing, gasping for air, nasal discharge, coughing
- Lack of energy and appetite
- Swelling of tissues around eyes and in neck
- Purple discoloration of the wattles, combs, and legs
- Depression, muscular tremors, drooping wings, twisting of head and neck, lack of coordination, complete paralysis

AVIAN INFLUENZA FACTS

- Avian Influenza H5N2 and H5N8, that has been reported in the U.S., has only affected birds, NOT HUMANS.
- The USDA has not approved a vaccine for use in the USA.
- You can NOT get avian influenza from properly handled cooked food. Microorganisms of all kinds are destroyed when the product reaches an internal temperature of 160°F.
- For more current information please visit the USDA Avian Health website at <https://l.mcmh.biz/usda-avian-health>
- For more information on Avian Influenza in your area, contact your local veterinarian or Extension Office.

2021 Hatching Season

SHIPPING BABY POULTRY

Within hours after hatching, our team carefully hand-packs your order. Each order of baby chicks or poultry is hand-packed by one of our team members, placed in one of our custom shipping boxes, and vaccinated as ordered. Each box contains bedding, some Gro-Gel (page 87), and heat packs when needed.

We then load your order on one of our trucks and take it to the airport for immediate shipping. All orders are shipped Priority Mail through the U.S. Post Office — most travel by air. Your order should reach your post office within 48 hours — don’t worry if it takes a little longer, prior to hatching chicks draw in the yolk sac which provides them with the nutrition they need for three days or more. You will receive a notification with tracking information when your order’s shipping label has been created. When your order arrives at your post office, they will contact you for pick up. Your baby birds will be less than 72 hours old when they arrive. See page 102 for information on caring for your birds.

PLEASE NOTE: Be sure to provide your email address so we can send your tracking information, and you phone number so your post office can call you. If you prefer delivery to another location, please call our Customer Service department to inquire about other arrangements. Many people ask us if they can pick up their order at a nearby airport. Sorry, that is not possible. If you have questions or issues with your order, please call our Customer Service department at 800.456.3280.

MERCHANDISE (NON-LIVE PRODUCTS)

ORDER DELIVERY TIME

We try to process all orders the day after payment is received. We ship all orders the fastest way possible, but please allow 2-3 weeks for delivery.

DROP-SHIPPED ITEMS

Some of the products we sell are shipped directly from the manufacturer. Please allow additional delivery time for these items. Returns on drop-shipped items may be subject to a restocking fee.

BACKORDER POLICY

We go to great expense and effort to keep our shelves stocked to bring you the fastest service we can provide. However, we reserve the right to backorder any merchandise that may not be in stock. We will notify you when the order is placed, and within 45 days if the item is still on backorder.

CANADIAN CUSTOMERS

To receive day old baby chickens, ducks, and geese only (other poultry is not available to our Canadian customers) from Murray McMurray Hatchery please follow these instructions:

1. When you place your order, give us your regular Canadian mailing address.
2. We cannot ship live poultry directly into Canada. We will ship your order to the post office in the U.S. city where you plan to pick up your order. You will need to provide us with the address and zip code of that location. The label on the poultry boxes will be your name and the address of the post office in the U.S. city you have chosen. You will be notified of the day you can expect to receive your chicks.

CATALOG PRICING

While we have taken every precaution to ensure accurate catalog prices, we cannot guarantee the catalog to be free of pricing and description errors. Prices are subject to change without notice. Merchandise prices in this catalog supersede all prior prices.

MERCHANDISE RETURNS

Prior approval is required before merchandise can be returned. Call 800.456.3280, or write, for approval. We accept merchandise for refund or exchange as long as it is in its original packaging, has all the appropriate literature, has not been used, and is in resalable condition. All returns may be subject to a handling and restocking fee of 10% of the original cost of the item. Merchandise that is drop-shipped from the factory may be subject to additional or different terms set by the individual manufacturer. Refunds will not be issued until the returned item has arrived at the Hatchery.

3. Contact the post office where you plan to pick up your order to ensure they will accept your shipment of live birds. You may be required to purchase a P.O. Box.
4. Poultry Health Papers are required at Canada Border Crossing Inspection Stations for ALL live day old poultry taken into Canada. We will apply to the State of Iowa to obtain health papers for you for an additional (non-refundable) charge of $75. You must place your order a minimum of two weeks prior to the ship date you require. We will have to re-apply for health papers if you change arrival date, and an additional $75 charge will apply. QUICK ICONS Help You Select the Right Breed As you look through this catalog and select which breeds you want to order, look for the quick and easy icons on each breed of baby chicks and Bantam chicks to help you select the breed that fits your needs. Want a breed specifically for egg color? The egg icons quickly identify the egg color for that breed. Live in a warm or cold climate? The sun and snowflake icons will show you what breeds are best for extreme temperatures. See a full list of icons and their meanings on page 2 of this catalog.
